Eames® Sofa

SITTING PRETTY

Charles and Ray Eames designed this sofa to complement their plush soft pad chairs and the sleek chaise. The sofa takes its visual strength from the interplay of supple leather, rich solid walnut or teak, and brightly polished aluminum. Strong but unobtrusive legs give the distinct impression of cushions floating in air. Thanks to those ample cushions, everyone gets a luxurious seat, whether they're sitting in a waiting room or waiting in a sitting room. The last furniture design the Eames Office produced, this sofa has been in continuous production since 1984 and stands as a graceful reminder of the honest genius of the Eameses.
